Health System Unifies Rev Cycle Management, Hits Revenue Targets

Problem

After a turnover in revenue cycle leadership, a midwestern health system missed net revenue targets. Operations were disorganized and there was a disconnect and lack of alignment with hospital leadership. Eager to regain footing, the health system engaged Ensemble Health Partners to do a revenue cycle assessment. Our multi-point evaluation identified several problem areas.

- > Departments were unaware of the up- and down-stream impact of their work.
- > Patients weren't receiving education on financial responsibility.
- > Workflows and reporting processes were inefficient or non-existent.

These operational challenges directly contributed to:

Low point-of-

High unbilled days

High first-pass denials + write-offs

Solution

The health system enlisted Ensemble to fully manage their revenue cycle operations. Using a combination of proprietary technology, process refinements and industry know-how we were able to quickly streamline operations and optimize structure, performance and results, including:

- > Improving communication + transparency, breaking down siloed operations
- > Reconciling + establishing dynamic reporting to monitor KPIs

POS collections

- Training front-office staff on POS collection methodologies + patient education strategies
- Implementing daily charge reconciliation; focusing staff on reducing late charges + coding backlog
